CMPE2000 1231 Lab 1- Creating a Monopoly Board and Related Information

Monopoly

The objective of this exercise is to use the HTML and CSS skills you have learned to develop a Monopoly board and some related information. You will use no JavaScript or any framework.

You will develop a website containing 3 pages. The main page will be a Monopoly board. You will write the HTML for the different elements on the page and position the elements (except the header and footer) using an 11x11 grid. You will also apply the required styling so as to obtain a board as shown below. The central element containing the green and pink background is an inner (nested) grid with 2 equal-sized columns and a grid gap of 10px. The anchor elements must use pseudo-selectors for displaying different font and background colors in the different states (link, visited, hover, active).

Clicking on the “Previous Winners & Rental Information” link will take you to the following page:

This page also must use a grid to position the nav element and the 2 tables. Import a custom font from Google Fonts and use it for the td element of the Winners information table. Note that the Rental Information table has different background colors for odd and even-numbered rows. You can choose your own background-color(s) provided they are different for odd and even-numbered rows.

Clicking on the “Community Chest/ Chance Responses Link” must take you to the page shown below:

This page also uses a grid for positioning the elements.

Developing Your Site Step-Wise:

This lab is quite long. You must proceed incrementally, first creating the html, then adding styling for fonts, borders and colors and finally positioning on the grids.

The initial pages without styling will look as shown below (you may want to include some styling to keep the width of the images at reasonable size):
